App.2d 228, 230 [78 Cal. Rptr. 924].) [7] It should be noted that there was no request for permission to file a late claim for the second injury, nor does the record reveal any extension of time granted by the board to allow the filing of such a claim. Furthermore, even assuming that the board had the power to award compensation for a second injury that occurred after the expiration of the original period in which compensation for the first injury was allowed, there would be no possible basis for prejudgment interest since, as already noted, there was no award for the second injury. (See Gherna v. Department of Workmen's Comp., supra, 3 Cal.3d at p. 644.) I have mentioned previously that emergency personnel had begun combing the area from the church to the cemetery, and that perhaps I would report on what we found. Tonight, it is Tuesday, and the search of the grounds in search of the remains of those who died is still in progress. Following the initial search, Greg and I went on a walk to look at the area. The first thing we saw were rescue folks cutting a canopy over the grave of a woman. This canopy prevented the sun from shining on the grave. We watched them for a few minutes and then decided to walk up the hill behind the cemetery, which is where we started our walk.

ModuQ: Ceil vs round to biggest value Can anyone

explain the performance of ceil

and round to biggest value? It seems that the code is more or less the same, like: var num =

`Math.ceil(number);` and `var num = Math.round(number);`

A: Both may yield the same results, depending on what you need. For instance, if `number` is negative, `Math.ceil(number)` will round down, `Math.round(number)` will round to the nearest integer.

`round(1.01) // 2` `ceil(1.01) // 2`

In the example below,
Math.floor() does the same thing, except: Math.floor(1.01)
