is 40-year-old Fung. Full story]

VICTORIA HALL, Hong Kong – On a morning that began with the sound of sirens blaring as police chased after two men wielding kitchen knives and machetes, a third bomb exploded in the heart of the Chinese territory's shopping district, sparking panic, sending a torrent of frightened shoppers pouring into the streets, and forcing the detention of a chief suspect. One suspect is in custody after a string of bombings in the popular Mong Kok district of Kowloon, which is ethnically diverse and home to hundreds of thousands of people. The third suspect is believed to have taken shelter and now remains at large, a police official said. More than 24 hours after the incident began, a fourth bomb was found in a trash bin at a train station in the nearby town of Tai Po, but the bomb squad was able to defuse it safely. All four bombs were found to be well-made and contained explosives. A police official at a main hospital in Mong Kok said that two people were killed in the morning attack. They said the man suspected of killing one victim had fled from the scene. The official spoke anonymously as he is not authorized to discuss the incident publicly. Police said they launched a massive search for the suspect, named as Fung Tak-shing, after receiving a call saying he was carrying explosives. He has been charged with murder, attempted murder and possession of explosives. Earlier, police said two men went on a rampage on foot, wielding knives and machetes. They first attacked a 50-year-old man they thought was Muslim and slashed his face before robbing
